Electronic billing now available at Huon Valley Council

Huon Valley Council has introduced a new electronic billing system allowing ratepayers to choose to have rates notices sent to them by email rather than through the post.

Huon Valley Mayor Peter Coad said the new billing system is quicker and more convenient than traditional postage, giving online access to rates notices from any location.

“Council is doing everything possible to offer a range of convenient payment choices for ratepayers, and the move to offer electronic billing is a significant step forward for ratepayers who prefer to do their business online,” said Cr Coad.

Cr Coad also presented an iPad Mini to the winner of Council’s recent competition to encourage people to sign-up for electronic billing. Jane Herring from Cygnet’s Schoolhouse Cafe was the lucky winner of the competition, after her name was randomly drawn from the pool of entrants.

“I would like to congratulate Jane for her win, and to thank her for signing-up to our new electronic billing system.”

“Anyone interested in signing-up for electronic billing can email Council at hvc@huonvalley.tas.gov.au, visit the payments section of our website at www.huonvalley.tas.gov.au/payments, phone us on 6264 0300, or drop into our Customer Service Centre in Huonville,” said Cr Coad.
